

Professor Ho Yee Lin

mailto:eylho@hkucc.hku.hk

Department Head
Department of English
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Ho,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor Chris M. Hutton mailto:chutton@hkucc.hku.hk

Associate Professor
Department of English
The University of Hong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Hutton,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong
<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor Douglas W. F. Kerr mailto:kerrdw@hkucc.hku.hk

Associate Professor
Department of English
The University of Hong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Kerr,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong
<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor Tong Q. S.

mailto:gstong@hkusua.hku.hk

Associate Professor
Department of English
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Tong,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor Hans-Georg Wolf

mailto:hanswolf@hkucc.hku.hk

Associate Professor
Department of English
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Wolf,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor Wendy Gan

mailto:wchg@hkucc.hku.hk

Assistant Professor
Department of English
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Gan,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor Otto Heim

mailto:otto.heim@hku.hk

Assistant Professor
Department of English
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Heim,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor M. Agnes Kang

mailto:makang@hkucc.hku.hk

Assistant Professor
Department of English
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Kang,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor P. K. Richards mailto:pkerr@hkucc.hku.hk

Assistant Professor
Department of English
The University of Hong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Richards,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong
<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor Paul Smethurst mailto:paulsmet@hkusua.hku.hk

Assistant Professor
Department of English
The University of Hong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Smethurst,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong
<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor Lim Geok Lin

mailto:sgllim@hkucc.hku.hk

Assistant Professor
Department of English
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Lim,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Ms. Amy Wong

mailto:wmwongf@hkucc.hku.hk

Lecturer

Department of English

The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Ms. Wong,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann

HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Ms. Ruth Hung

mailto:ruth@graduate.hku.hk

Demonstrator

Department of English

The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Ms. Hung,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann

HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor David Nunan

mailto:dcnunan@hkucc.hku.hk

Director and Chair of Applied Linguistics
English Centre
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Nunan,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann

HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor Phil Benson

mailto:pbenson@hkucc.hku.hk

Assistant Professor

English Centre

The University of Hong Kong

East
Asian
Research and Translation in
Hong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Benson,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann

HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Dr. Vivien Berry

mailto:vberry@hkucc.hku.hk

Lecturer
English Centre
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Dr. Berry,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Mr. Nigel Bruce mailto:njbruce@hkucc.hku.hk

Principal Language Instructor
English Centre
The University of Hong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Mr. Bruce,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong
<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Ms. Chan S. W.

mailto:jswchan@hkucc.hku.hk

Assistant Language Instructor
English Centre
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Ms. Chan,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Ms. Cheung M. L.

mailto:lisa@hkusua.hku.hk

Assistant Language Instructor
English Centre
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Ms. Cheung,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Ms. Linda Cooley

mailto:lmcooley@hkucc.hku.hk

Instructor
English Centre
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Ms. Cooley,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Mr. Robin D. Corcos

mailto:rdcorcos@hkusua.hku.hk

Senior Language Instructor
English Centre
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Mr. Corcos,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Mr. Patrick D. Desloge

mailto:pdesloge@hkucc.hku.hk

Language Instructor

English Centre

The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Mr. Desloge,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann

HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Ms. Fong Sze Nga

mailto:fongsn@hkucc.hku.hk

Assistant Language Instructor
English Centre
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Ms. Fong,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Dr. David Gardner

mailto:dgardner@hkucc.hku.hk

Senior Language Instructor
English Centre
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Dr. Gardner,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Dr. Hui Bon Hoa
mailto:mlhuihon@hkucc.hku.hk

Language Instructor
English Centre
The University of Hong Kong

才 能
E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Dr. Hui,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong
<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Ms. Nora Anniesha Hussin

mailto:hussinna@hkucc.hku.hk

Assistant Language Instructor
English Centre
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Ms. Hussin,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Mr./Ms. Ip Kung Sau

mailto:ipks@hkucc.hku.hk

Language Instructor

English Centre

The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Mr./Ms. Ip,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann

HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor Lam S. L. mailto:agneslam@hkucc.hku.hk

Associate Professor
English Centre
The University of Hong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Lam,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong
<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Dr. Jo A. Lewkowicz

mailto:jolewkow@hkusua.hku.hk

Associate Professor and Associate Director
English Centre
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Dr. Lewkowicz,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann

HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Dr. Elaine Martyn

mailto:emartyn@hku.hk

Language Instructor

English Centre

The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Dr. Martyn,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann

HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Ms. Elizabeth Ann Mueller

mailto:amueller@hkucc.hku.hk

Senior Language Instructor
English Centre
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Ms. Mueller,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Ms. Elizabeth Samson

mailto:esamson@hkucc.hku.hk

Senior Language Instructor
English Centre
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Ms. Samson,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor Geoff Smith

mailto:gpssmith@hkusua.hku.hk

Associate Professor

English Centre

The University of Hong Kong

East
Asian
Research and Translation in
Hong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Smith,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann

HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Ms. Tse Lai Kun

mailto:iktse@hkucc.hku.hk

Language Instructor
English Centre
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Ms. Tse,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong
<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Mr. Peter Voller

mailto:pvoller@hkucc.hku.hk

Language Instructor
English Centre
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Mr. Voller,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Ms. Wong S. Y.

mailto: jsywong@hkucc.hku.hk

Assistant Language Instructor
English Centre
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Ms. Wong,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto: hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Ms. Wong L. C.

mailto:lillianwong@hku.hk

Language Instructor

English Centre

The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Ms. Wong,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann

HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor Adams B. Bodomo mailto:abbodomo@hku.hk

Director
Cognitive Science Programme
The University of Hong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Bodomo,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong
<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor Stephen Matthews mailto:matthews@hkucc.hku.hk

Professor
Department of Linguistics
The University of Hong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Matthews,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong
<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor R. Chen

mailto:flchen@hkucc.hku.hk

Professor

Department of Linguistics

The University of Hong Kong

E ast

A sian

R esearch and

T ranslation in

H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Chen,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann

HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor Tan Li Hai

mailto:tanlh@hkucc.hku.hk

Assistant Professor
Department of Linguistics
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Tan,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor Perry Conrad

mailto:conrad@hkucc.hku.hk

Assistant Research Professor
Department of Linguistics
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Conrad,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Mr. Zhang J. X.
mailto:jxzhang@hkucc.hku.hk

Department of Linguistics
The University of Hong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Mr. Zhang,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong
<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Mr. Fu G. H. mailto:ghfu@hkucc.hku.hk

Department of Linguistics
The University of Hong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Mr. Fu,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong
<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Dr. W. Zhang

mailto:wzhang@hkucc.hku.hk

Demonstrator

Department of Linguistics

The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Dr. Zhang,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann

HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Ms. C. Nancarrow mailto:crnancar@hksua.hku.hk

Department of Linguistics
The University of Hong Kong

才 能 東 亞 研 究 和 翻 譯 研 究 所 東 港

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Ms. Nancarrow,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong
<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor Liu Ming Wood

mailto:mwliu@hkucc.hku.hk

Reader

Department of Chinese

The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Liu,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann

HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor Cheng Ngai Lai
mailto:nlcheng@hkucc.hku.hk

Associate Professor
Department of Chinese
The University of Hong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Cheng,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong
<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Mr. Fung Kam Wing

mailto:fungkw@hkusua.hku.hk

Lecturer

Department of Chinese

The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Mr. Fung,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann

HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Mr. Poon Hon Kwong

mailto: jhkpoon@hkucc.hku.hk

Lecturer

Department of Chinese

The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Mr. Poon,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann

HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto: hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor Tang Chiu Kei

mailto:cktangb@hkusua.hku.hk

Associate Professor
Department of Chinese
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Tang,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor Tse Yiu Kay

mailto:yktse@hkucc.hku.hk

Associate Professor
Department of Chinese
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Tse,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor Wang Ai He

mailto:awang@hkucc.hku.hk

Associate Professor
Department of Chinese
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Wang,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor Yeung Wing On

mailto:hwoyeung@hkucc.hku.hk

Associate Professor
Department of Chinese
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Yeung,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Mr. Lo Chung Hang

mailto:achlo@hkucc.hku.hk

Assistant Lecturer
Department of Chinese
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Mr. Lo,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Ms. Ng N. S.

mailto:nsng@hku.hk

Teaching Consultant
Department of Chinese
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Ms. Ng,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Professor Shang Vee Sui
mailto:kvsshang@hkucc.hku.hk

Honorary Assistant Professor
Department of Chinese
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Professor Shang,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong
<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04

Ms. Lam O. N.

mailto:lonlam@hkucc.hku.hk

Language Instructor
English Centre
The University of Hong Kong

E ast
A sian
R esearch and
T ranslation in
H ong Kong

Hong Kong, 03/10/04

Re: Introduction to the HKLNA-Project

Dear Ms. Lam,

The HKLNA-Project is a multidisciplinary project that draws on expertise from economics, socio-linguistics, language education, statistics, political science, psychology, and marketing. Its principal objective is to examine the soundness (or more probable unsoundness) of East Asia's universal English language requirement as a means for the promotion of cross-cultural communication, educational enlightenment, technology transfer, and commercial competitiveness in East Asia. As EARTH is a Hong Kong firm the project's natural starting point is Hong Kong -- hence, the name Hong Kong Language Needs Assessment Project. The following provides you with a direct link to the project's first research proposal

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/documents/proposals/030828-1.pdf>

More information about the HKLNA-Project itself can be obtained at

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/current/hklna/index.html>

Once contact among interested parties has been established a general meeting will be held in order to answer questions about the proposed research and allow interested and potential participants an opportunity to meet with one another and me. Certainly your input with regard to the project's first proposal is and will be heartily welcomed. Please direct all queries, comments, and knowledge of probable donors directly to me at the contact points provided in the foot of this letter.

EARTH welcomes you and your feedback!

Sincerely,

橋 守

R. A. Stegemann
HKLNA-Project Director

East Asian Research and Translation in Hong Kong

<http://homepage.mac.com/moogoonghwa/earth/>

mailto:hsmr@pacific.net.hk • tel/fax: 852 2630 0349
H2-30 Sunshine City • No. 18 On Luk Street • Ma On Shan
Shatin • New Territories
Hong Kong • China 04